Stakeholder Map

Map everyone your venture affects, decide who to listen to first, and plan how you will measure the change you create.

1. Stakeholder brainstorm

List at least ten groups who affect or are affected by your venture.

Include at least one group that might be affected negatively or disagree with you.

2. Influence and effect

Plot each group by how much they influence your venture and how much it affects them.

Which groups are highly affected but have little influence?

Which three groups will you listen to first, and why?

3. Listening notes

What do they hope your venture changes?

What are they worried about?

What surprised you?

4. Theory of change

Because we do [this], [these people] experience [this change].

What has to be true for that change to happen?

5. Measures

Two or three outputs you will count.

One or two outcomes you will observe or ask about.

How and when you will collect each measure.
